

Keep it Clean

with No-Mess, Sprout-Resistant Seed

You've worked hard to landscape your backyard; the last thing you want is a messy lawn. The Wild Bird Center offers high quality, fresh and nutritious seeds containing no shells. Patio Mix® and Hulled Sunflower are a welcome addition to any feeder station as they are completely edible, create practically no mess under your feeders and resist sprouting—virtually guaranteed to leave your lovely landscaping intact while attracting colorful birds to your backyard.

Patio Mix®—this exclusive blend is especially clean and tidy, making it ideal for backyard, patio and deck feeders. It's a blend of hulled sunflower seed, peanut pieces and hulled millet. Patio Mix® is entirely edible!

Hulled Sunflower—for years black oil sunflower has been considered the preferred favorite of many backyard birds. We've taken it a step further and removed all the shells. There is no seed-eating bird that can resist this meal!

Luxury Accommodations

While fixing up your own “nest” why not indulge your birds with a new one as well? Beautify your backyard with one of our decorative or rustic bird houses, sure to be welcomed by your backyard birds. Bird houses are a perfect way to encourage bird visitors to your backyard and provide a safe dwelling for them too. When adding a bird house to your backyard, be sure to think about location. A good location is somewhere on your property that doesn't have too much human activity but still allows you to watch and enjoy your birds. Bird houses can be hung on a tree or mounted on a pole or tree limb and should be three to ten feet high. The Wild Bird Center carries a wide range of houses ensuring the perfect complement to any backyard—the choice is yours!
